

EVERYTHING IS DIVINE

Date: Tuesday, October 21, 2008

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Consider the reality of the objects from which one derives joy. Each one of them is saturated with the Divine Essence. The rain that falls, the sun that shines, the moon that cools, the rivers that flow are equally available to all. Therefore, no one has the right to claim them exclusively for themselves or to prevent others from enjoying these gifts. The Divine is the basis for everything. The eye cannot see nor the ears hear unless the life-principle is active through the grace of the Divine Atma or Brahman. Man can become aware of the Atmic truth when he casts off the trammels of egotism and possessiveness.

-BABA